Abstract Submission and Poster Guidelines

Content: Abstracts should reflect content of intended poster and must include poster title. Abstracts should contain the following:

- Introduction stating purpose of the study.
- Brief description of procedure/study.
- Brief description of results.
- Conclusion. Tables or illustrations may not be included in abstracts.

- Brand Names: Device/drug brand names should be avoided; generic or scientific names should be used. If readers will not understand poster content without brand names, brand name may be used only once (after first mention of the drug or device's name). Pharmaceutical or other support of any study must be acknowledged at the end of the abstract and at the end of the poster.
- Encore Posters: Previously presented posters are welcome. Please note if an abstract is an encore poster at the time of submission.

Allow up to 2 weeks from the date of abstract submission for notification of approval or denial.

Approved Abstracts: Poster Guidelines

Poster Submission:

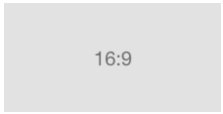

Deadline to Submit Poster PDF: Friday, December 18, 2026

- Approved abstracts will be shared at the conference as poster PDFs and will be available to all in-person attendees in the Poster section of the TIM27 mobile app, as well as on digital monitors placed at high-traffic areas of the conference.
- If your abstract is approved, you will receive an approval email containing a unique hyperlink. Please use this link to submit your poster PDF.
- Your poster will be published in SKIN The Journal of Cutaneous Medicine. SKIN is a bi-monthly, peer-reviewed, online medical journal dedicated to providing an enhanced route to disseminate new dermatologic knowledge on all aspects of cutaneous disease. After the conference, you will receive an email with submission instructions for publication in SKIN.
- New Opportunity – Your poster will be published in the Dermatology Online Journal (DOJ). DOJ is a longstanding scholarly publication that has served the dermatology community for decades. Publication in DOJ provides an opportunity to preserve and showcase your work within an established dermatology journal, allowing your poster to remain part of the journal's ongoing academic record beyond the conference setting. After the conference, you will receive submission instructions for publication in DOJ. There is an additional fee of $500 per poster for publication in DOJ. Please note you may only select one journal for publication.
